

ABSTRACT

A system for selling personal information through a trusted third party. An owner of the personal information provides policy governing the sale of the owner's personal information and authorizes information sources to provide the personal information to the trusted third party. The trusted third party provides for validation of the personal information and sells it to requestors in accordance with the policy, and provides payment or credit to the owner as compensation for the sale.

10992073 28